

HOUSE COMMISSION ON CONGRESSIONAL MAILING STANDARDS

Joan Claybrook, President, Public Citizen; David Arkush, Director, and Craig Holman, Legislative Representative, Public Citizen's Congress Watch, Complainants

v .

Rep. Peter Roskam (R-Ill.), Respondent

COMPLAINT

(1) Joan Claybrook is President of Public Citizen; David Arkush is Director of Public Citizen's Congress Watch; and Craig Holman is Legislative Representative for campaign finance and governmental ethics at Public Citizen's Congress Watch. Public Citizen is a non-profit advocacy group with approximately 150,000 members nationwide. Public Citizen is located at 1600 20th Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20009.

(2) This complaint arises under the franking laws extended to Members of the House of Representatives of the United States that generally prohibit Members who are candidates for office from distributing in their electoral districts government-financed mass mailings within 90 days of an election.

(3) From on or about August 18, 2008, through October 7, 2008, the respondent caused to be mailed, under his franking privileges, an undetermined quantity of mass mailings, including several distinct two-page color leaflets, praising the tenure and official work of Congressman Peter Roskam, and advertising the candidate's name, within 90 days of the November 4, 2008, general election. The 90-day deadline in this particular case began on August 6, 2008. True and accurate copies of some of these mailings are attached hereto as Exhibit No. 1.

(4) Each of these leaflets was produced and mailed at taxpayer expense under the franking privileges of the respondent, as indicated by the disclosure notices that the leaflets are “public documents” and “official business,” complete with Congressman Peter Roskam’s congressional office and government e-mail as return addresses.

(5) The same or substantially similar leaflet material had been received by the Commission on Congressional Mailing Standards prior to the 90-day deadline of August 6, 2008. In staff advisory opinions, the Commission gave the leaflets initial approval as to their content being “frankable” matter under 39 U.S.C. §§ 3910(a)(3)(A) & (B). The advisory opinions did not purport to advise that the material could permissibly be mailed within 90 days of an election. True and correct copies of the advisory opinions are attached as Exhibit No. 2.

(6) Nevertheless, the leaflets in question were mailed and received well after the 90-day deadline. Most materials were received by voters in Roskam’s district in September, and some of leaflets continued to be received as late as October.

(7) One of the leaflets was designed as a “cookie cutter” advertisement, allowing the campaign to address different campaign issues for different audiences, ranging from

“protecting children from poison,” “increasing access to health care,” “freeing families from the death tax,” to “protecting our parks.”

(8) At least two recipients of Congressman Roskam’s franked mail signed affidavits attesting that the mailers were unsolicited, and thus not exempt under 39 U.S.C. § 3210(a)(6)(E). We are aware of no evidence that any of the mailings was in direct response to inquiries or requests from the persons who received the mailers. True and correct copies of the affidavits from recipients of the mailers are attached as Exhibit No. 3.

Therefore, the complainants demand that the respondent be found in violation of the franking privilege based on his use of the frank for mass mailings within 90 days of an election in violation of 39 U.S.C. § 3210(a)(6)(A), House Rule XXIV(8) and Chapter 4 of the Franking Regulations promulgated by this Commission, and that the Commission immediately order such relief as is proper and lawful.

Signed at Washington, D.C.
City, State

this 23rd day of October, 2008.

PROTECTING OUR FAMILIES FROM TAINTED IMPORTED FOOD

Last year, more than 76 million Americans became sick and more than 5,000 died as a result of food borne illness.

Peter Roskam disagrees with the Bush Administration's lax approach to food import safety and has proposed the following to help keep our imports safe:

- Congressman Roskam's legislation would close loopholes in our nation's food inspection process and hold foreign manufacturers to our own high food safety standards.
- He is urging the Food and Drug Administration to move immediately to require private labs to submit testing data for all food imports to prevent unsafe food from entering the U.S. market.

Congressman Roskam is committed to ensuring that American families can enjoy a meal together without having to worry about the safety of the food on the table.

Protecting Children from Poison

Each year, accidental poisoning is a leading cause of injury and death, second only to car crashes. What's more, poison victims are often small children who unknowing ingest harmful cleaners or other dangerous household products. Poison Control Centers (PCC) save lives by teaching poison prevention and providing emergency treatment to victims of poisoning. In 80% of cases a PCC saves a trip to the emergency room. For every $1 spent on poison control, $7 is saved on emergency medical care.

- I voted for H.R. 5669, the Poison Control Support, Enhancement, and Awareness Act of 2008. This legislation reauthorized the PCC national toll-free number, national media campaign, and grant program to provide assistance for poison prevention and treatment.
- I signed a petition to increase PCC funding from $10 million to $30.1 million for the 2009 fiscal year.
- Poison Control Centers not only save lives, they save money.

In case of an emergency, contact the Illinois Poison Control Center immediately at 1-800-222-1222.

Increasing Access to Health Care

According to a study by the American Hospital Association, America will face a shortage of 157,000 pharmacists by 2020. That's why I recently secured $100,000 for Northwestern University's Advanced Career Explorers Program in Downers Grove. This program will:

- Provide pharmacy job and education training to high school and community college students to address the pharmacist shortage.
- Help local students take advantage of exciting career opportunities in the pharmacy field.
- Increase access to knowledgeable health care professionals and services.

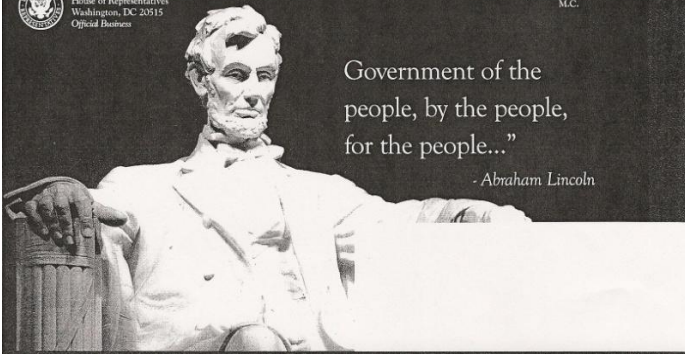

Since coming to Congress in 2007, I have worked in a bipartisan fashion to create solutions to America's looming health care crisis.

Harnessing American Sources of Energy

America has 250 billion tons of recoverable coal reserves, the equivalent of 800 billion barrels of oil, or more than triple the oil reserves of Saudi Arabia. Illinois alone has more BTUs in coal reserves than Saudi Arabia and Kuwait have in oil reserves. That's why I strongly support the increased use of clean coal technology as a part of America's quest for energy independence. These efforts will help lower the price of gas at the pump today.

Recently, I introduced a discharge petition to demand that congressional leadership immediately vote on H.R. 2208, the Coal Liquid Fuel Act. This legislation would:

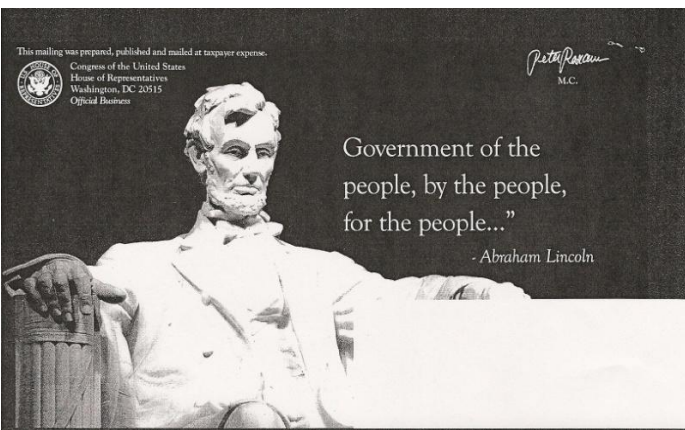

- Advance coal-to-liquid projects to increase our supply of American energy.
- Lower the price of gas at the pump.
- Put America on the path to energy independence.

Since coming to Congress in 2007, I have been working in a bipartisan manner to create real energy solutions for our families.

Promoting Competitiveness and Securing American Jobs

Illinois ranks 4th in the U.S. in manufacturing jobs, accounting for 5% of the nation's industrial employment. Yet our state has lost almost 150,000 industrial jobs since January 2001. That is why I recently secured $500,000 for a local manufacturing partnership to develop energy-efficient technology for our vehicles. This project will:

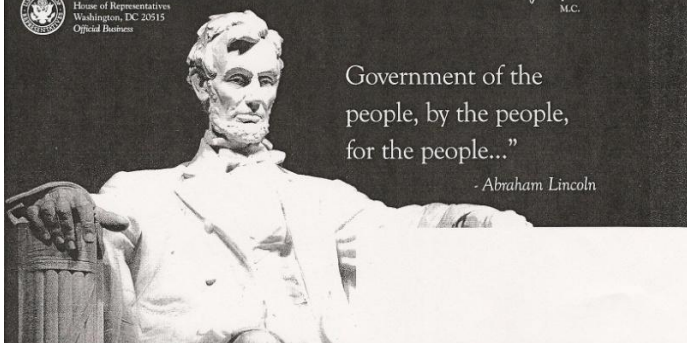

- Use cheap, light-weight titanium products in vehicles, which will lead to more fuel efficient cars and reduce energy consumption.
- Bring hundreds of new jobs to Glendale Heights in a time when manufacturing jobs are disappearing throughout the state.
- Allow companies in Glendale Heights and Lockport, as well as the Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago and the Oak Ridge National Laboratory to work side-by-side developing more fuel-efficient vehicles. Partnership and cost-sharing is a responsible way to utilize federal dollars.

Since coming to Congress in 2007, I have worked in a bipartisan fashion to bring opportunities for economic development home to our local communities.

Securing our Borders

On my recent trip to the U.S.-Mexico border, I saw firsthand the tireless efforts of those looking to break our laws and enter this country illegally. They are willing to risk their lives to evade detection and sneak into this country.

This is unacceptable: we are a nation of laws and have an obligation to enforce a reasonable, legal process for coming into our country. That's why I have taken action to combat illegal immigration, including:

- Cosponsoring H.R. 4088, the Secure America with Verification and Enforcement (SAVE) Act to make employment verification mandatory for all new hires and double the number of border patrol agents.
- Cosponsoring H.R. 4176, the Prevention of Unsafe Licensing Act, to prevent illegal aliens from obtaining driver's licenses and State-issued identification documents and benefits.

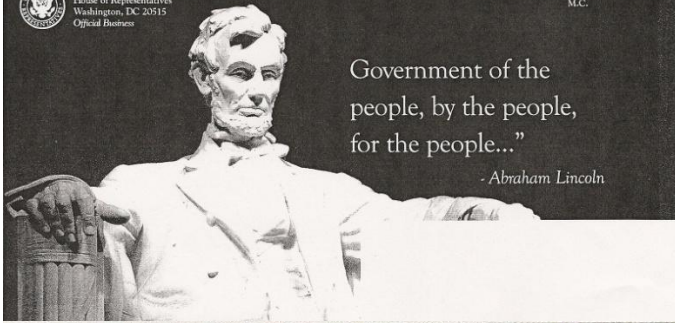

Since coming to Congress in 2007 I have worked in a bipartisan fashion to secure our borders and stem the tide of illegal immigrants.

Freeing Families from the Death Tax

The loss of a loved one can be devastating to a family. This is exactly the wrong occasion for the federal government to swoop in and greedily seek its "fair share" of the family estate – up to 55% if Congress doesn't take action soon. American families already pay too many taxes.

- I am an original cosponsor of H.R. 2380, the Death Tax Repeal Permanency Act.
- The government doesn't have a revenue problem, it has a spending problem.

Since coming to Congress last year, I have been working with my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to let hard-working American families keep more of their own money.

Protecting Medicaid Care for Those Who Need It

When illness and emergencies arise, you want to make sure your family has medical coverage, regardless of your income situation. Medicaid allows families in economic trouble to obtain affordable health care

In these tough economic times, the number of people covered by Medicaid has increased from 34 million to 47 million in just five years.

On April 23, 2008, I voted in favor of H.R. 5613, protecting the Medicaid Safety Net Act of 2008. This legislation:

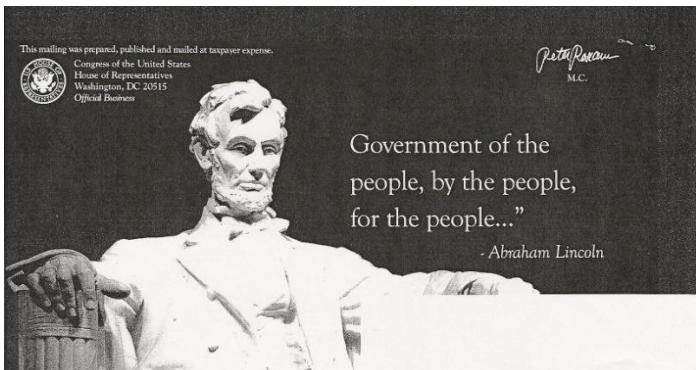

- Will ensure that families hard hit by the slowing economy have access to the health care they need.
- Increases resources available to help local schools better serve students with disabilities.

Since coming to Congress in 2007, I have worked in a bipartisan manner to address the looming health care crisis in America.

Real Energy Solutions

This year, the cost of jet fuel has nearly doubled, making it harder for families and businesses to travel. In addition to steep increases in ticket prices, high gas prices are causing the major airlines to lay off thousands of Chicagoland employees.

- On June 12, 2008, I offered an amendment to the NASA Authorization bill to say that instead of spending millions of taxpayer's hard earned dollars on a "Deep Space Climate Observatory", let's use the money to develop real energy solutions.
- My amendment struck the Deep Space Climate Observatory from the bill and instead funded research for an alternative aviation fuel.
- I am committed to bringing our community real relief at the pump.
Unfortunately, my amendment was shut out from debate by a Congress that has done nothing to solve America's energy crisis.

Working to Create Real Energy Solutions

In this time of $4 gasoline, the American people must come together and work to develop new sources of domestic energy production at the same time as we increase conservation and energy efficiency.

It is important that Democrats and Republicans work together to develop solutions to this problem.

Recently, along with 53 Democrats and 11 Republicans, I put forth H.R. 1498, the Bicycle Commuter Act, to provide tax benefits to employers who offer cash reimbursements to employees to defray the costs of riding to work.

Getting cars off the road reduces congestion, decreases pollution and promotes responsible energy consumption.

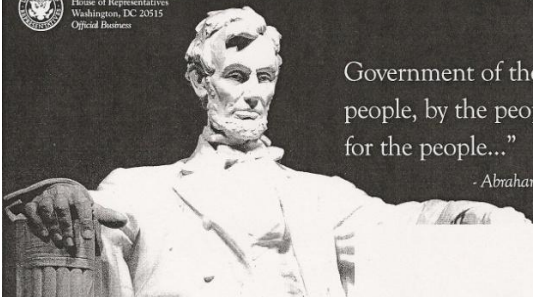

I am working with my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to address our energy independence and promote alternative and renewable fuel sources.

Finding a Cure for Multiple Sclerosis

Every hour in the United States, someone new is diagnosed with multiple sclerosis (MS), as unprecedented and often disabling disease of the central nervous system. Currently, there are 400,000 Americans living with MS, with an increasing number of military personnel being diagnosed with this deadly disease. It is critical to increase funding for MS research; without such research the cure to MS will not be found.

This is why I strongly supported the $15 million federal funding request for the Multiple Sclerosis Research Program (MSRP) which would fund increased MS research. This funding will bring us closer to finding a cure to this destructive disease.

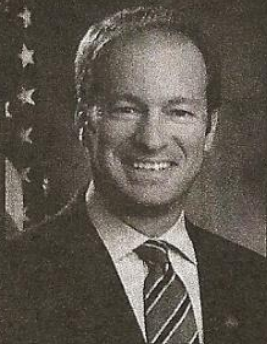

Since coming to Congress in 2007 I have worked in a bipartisan fashion to improve the state of health care in America.

Protecting our Parks

On July 17, 2007, the Emerald Ash Borer (EAB) was discovered right in our backyard in Glendale Heights. The EAB is threatening to infiltrate the Chicagoland area, including our beautiful Morton Arboretum.

EAB larvae burrow into ash trees, which account for roughly 20 percent of the urban forests in the Chicagoland area, and starve them to death. The threat that this pest poses to our beautiful ash trees is real.

To eliminate this invasive species threat I have:

- Introduced H.R. 3901, the Emerald Ash Borer Municipality Assistance Act, which would provide low-cost loans to local governments to finance the purchase of equipment to address infested trees and to prevent further infestation.
- Requested $45 million from the U.S. Department of Agriculture fiscal year 2009 Appropriations to combat this pest.

Since coming to Congress last year, I have worked in a bipartisan fashion to make our local communities a safe enjoyable place to live and raise a family.
