Dear Chair Khan,

On June 26, 2023, Northern Indiana Public Service Company (NIPSCO)—a utility with 483,000 captive electric customers (and an additional 835,000 captive gas customers)—filed an application with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) for authorization under Section 203 of the Federal Power Act to sell 19.9% equity interest to private equity titan Blackstone Inc. for $2.15 billion and control over two of NIPSCO’s board seats.¹

Section 203 only authorizes such acquisitions if FERC “finds that the proposed transaction will be consistent with the public interest”,² with its regulations prohibiting “any adverse effect on competition, rates, or regulation”.³

Blackstone already controls one seat on the board of another utility with captive customers, FirstEnergy (filled by Blackstone’s Sean T. Klimczak), and FirstEnergy’s CEO Brian X. Tierney came directly from Blackstone.⁴

We informed FERC that allowing Blackstone executives to serve simultaneously on the board of directors of NIPSCO and FirstEnergy appears to violate Section 8 of the Clayton Act,⁵ and therefore flouts the public interest. We asked FERC to require Blackstone to disclose all companies where their executives serve on the board of directors, in order to assess whether the proposed transaction is consistent with the public interest and with federal anti-trust statutes.⁶

Yesterday, FERC issued an order approving the transaction, dismissing our protest, noting that its “jurisdiction does not extend to the enforcement of the Clayton Act.”⁷

People • Power • Progress YEARS

In light of FERC's misguided belief that it is unable to enforce federal law, we ask the FTC to determine whether allowing Blackstone to simultaneously control seats on the boards of directors of FirstEnergy, NIPSCO and its numerous power sector holdings violates Section 8 of the Clayton Act or other aspects of anti-trust statutes.

Respectfully submitted,
