

The Honorable Chuck Schumer
Majority Leader
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

July 18, 2022

Dear Majority Leader Schumer,

As Congress verges on finally putting in place a system for Medicare drug price negotiation and advancing other urgently needed reforms, we ask that you ensure people who need insulin to live are not left behind.

The United States regularly pays more than other large, high-income countries for prescription drugs. Indeed, last year, for 17 of the top 20 drugs in worldwide sales, drug corporations siphoned more revenues from the United States than the rest of the world combined.¹ The lack of a system for drug price negotiations for the largest purchaser of prescription drugs in the world, Medicare Part D, is one of the primary reasons that drug corporations price gouge U.S. taxpayers and patients to pad their bottom lines. The importance and value of breaking through the “non-interference clause” legal prohibition on negotiation that has been in place for nearly two decades cannot be understated, and we applaud you and your colleagues for bringing us closer to achieving that change than we have ever been before.

We are concerned, however, with the removal of essential provisions specific to insulin pricing in the latest draft drug pricing legislation released by the Senate Finance Committee. These provisions were included in the prior draft considered by the Senate last December, as well as drug price reform legislation that the House of Representatives has passed multiple times in recent years. We are not aware of any other legislation under consideration for passage this Congress that would guarantee that Medicare negotiates prices for insulin.

Congressional Democrats previously were unified in support, at a minimum, for including specific requirements for all insulin products to be subject to price negotiations and for out-of-pocket costs for people with Medicare to be limited to $35 per month. As drug pricing legislation advances through the budget reconciliation process, policymakers must, at least, include price negotiation and Medicare out-of-pocket cost provisions that have previously been uncontroversial in the caucus. It would be an enormous mistake to exclude insulin price negotiation and out-of-pocket protections that previously received overwhelming support and miss this key opportunity.

We are grateful for the progress you and your colleagues in the Senate and the House have made towards delivering on Medicare drug price negotiation and inflation protections. When enacted, those reforms will save tens of billions of dollars and millions of lives. Please do everything you can to provide reform for people with diabetes and, at a minimum, include previously supported policies to include insulin in Medicare negotiation and out-of-pocket caps in the budget resolution reform package.

Sincerely,
