

215 Pennsylvania Avenue, SE • Washington, D.C. 20003 • 202/546-4996 • www.citizen.org

Position Communications Officer – Public Citizen’s Global Trade Watch

GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF POSITION: Public Citizen seeks a skilled campaigner to develop and implement a local media program for our Global Trade Watch division. The role of the Communications Officer is to expand Global Trade Watch’s impact by developing and implementing a local media strategy for our TPP grassroots campaign. Today’s “trade” agreements affect not only jobs and wages, but a vast array of non-trade matters from food safety, to medicine prices, to financial regulation, to climate and environmental policy. Ensuring that the public knows how these seemingly arcane agreements affect their lives is a major goal of Global Trade Watch – making the Communications Officer’s role central to all of our work. The Communications Officer works with GTW’s field team and the communications and field staff of allied organizations across the country.

The ideal candidate will have the following qualities, skills and background:

- experience in a fast paced campaign operation where creative communications strategies are an integral part of multi-faceted campaigns;
- a knack for capturing the story so as to be able to create and pitch winning story ideas on the array of subjects our work covers;
- excellent writing skills to translate complex ideas into appealing prose;
- indefatigable pitching zeal and excellent phone skills;
- knowledge of press, broadcast and new media;
- extraordinary attention to detail;
- an interest in trade and globalization issues specifically and/or public interest work generally.

SPECIFIC RESPONSIBILITIES:

1. In consultation with Director and Deputy Director, develop GTW’s local media and communications strategy with the goal of enhancing overall capacity and maximizing the effectiveness of the communications components of the anti-TPP campaign.
2. Conduct the field department’s media outreach efforts, including tours, events, news conferences and editorial board visits around legislative and state and local campaigns.
3. Develop and implement a comprehensive electronic media program including the GTW Facebook, twitter and local blog feeds for events and outreach campaigns in target districts.
4. Conduct free and paid media activities in target districts, including proactive pitching of local radio interviews, stories, columns and editorials; organizing press teleconference calls and press conferences; obtaining coverage of coalition member activities, GTW reports and related research materials; responding quickly to inquiries; and press data research and maintenance.
5. Implement a robust local blog outreach program with the goal of expanding coverage of anti-TPP arguments and activities in prominent local and state-level blogs in target districts.
6. Develop and maintain relationships with key reporters, producers, bookers, opinion leaders and editors, including organizing regular one-on-one meetings, press luncheons, briefings, and editorial board meetings in target districts;
7. Implement programs to maintain constant information flow to these contacts including regular emails, preparation and distribution of editorial memos and other materials.
8. Write press releases, editorial memos, letters to the editor and op-eds in coordination with Research Director and Deputy Director.
9. Monitor trade press news daily to track story trends so as to hone story pitching strategy and serve as media filter of relevant news and information to staff.
10. Maintain localized media databases and press information distribution systems with assistance by administrative staff.

REQUIREMENTS:

- Education: Bachelor degree.
- Work Experience: Position requires a minimum of 2-4 years of experience in issue or political campaigning and/or communications or journalism dealing with legislative or issue campaigns.
- Knowledge: Familiarity with social media and traditional media operations and practices; relationships with bloggers, traditional and electronic national political or business reporters and/or working knowledge of trade and globalization issues a plus.
- Skills: Ability to coordinate multifaceted media campaigns and coordinate other GTW staff and local allies for media outreach work; and proven experience in developing and executing campaign strategies. Excellent interpersonal, phone demeanor, writing and verbal skills are required. Spanish language skills desirable.
- Capabilities: High energy and enthusiasm. Ability to work well with a wide range of people, work well under pressure, handle multiple tasks at once, and adapt to changing situations on a daily basis. Demonstrated success in a fast-paced press environment where multitasking and priority-setting abilities were critical to success. Must be highly organized and detail oriented.

CONDITIONS:

Strong interest in and commitment to promoting the goals of Public Citizen's Global Trade Watch. This is a one-year grant contingent position.

TO APPLY:

Send a letter of interest, resume, and writing sample to GTWapplicants@citizen.org.

Public Citizen is an equal opportunity employer. People of color, women, LGBT candidates are encouraged to apply. Public Citizen employees are proud members of SEIU Local 500.

About Public Citizen's Global Trade Watch:

Public Citizen is a national, nonprofit advocacy organization founded in 1971 to represent the public interest in Congress, the executive branch and the courts. We fight for openness and democratic accountability in government; for social and economic justice in globalization and trade policies; for clean, safe and sustainable energy; for strong health, safety and environmental protections; for safe, effective and affordable medicines and health care and for the right of consumers to seek redress in the courts. We have six divisions based in our Washington, D.C. offices and an office in Texas

The mission of Public Citizen's Global Trade Watch division is to ensure that in this era of globalization, a majority have the opportunity to enjoy America's promises: economic security, a clean environment, safe food, medicines and products, access to quality affordable services such as health care and the exercise of democratic decision-making about the matters that affect their lives.

Public Citizen started working on globalization and 'trade' issues in 1991 when we recognized that this was necessary simply to remain effective advocates for the public health, consumer safety, environmental and economic justice goals Public Citizen had promoted over decades. Motivating this strategic initiative was our realization that today's international commercial agreements, such as the World Trade Organization (WTO) and the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), were no longer mainly about trade per se. Rather, these far-reaching agreements were backdoor delivery mechanisms to implement an expansive, enforceable package of non-trade policies - limits on financial regulation and food safety, new monopoly patent rights over medicines and seeds that limit access, new investor rights that promote job-offshoring and subject public interest policies to attack and more. This corporate-led version of globalization is designed to limit governments' role in regulating the economy and to eliminate many of the public interest safeguards Public Citizen and like-minded organizations and activists had won over decades. And, it shifts decision-making on matters previously determined in national, state and local venues to international bodies where those affected by the decisions have no meaningful role.

Since its inception in 1995, GTW has been a leader in popularizing the globalization and trade debate by connecting these seemingly arcane policies to peoples' everyday experiences – and helping people make a difference in the future of globalization by giving them the tools they need to educate their communities, hold Congress accountable for policy choices, and hit the streets to protest. GTW works with diverse national and international coalitions. For more information, please see our website: www.tradewatch.org