Dear Ms. Forte:

The last time I was told: If you sue us, we will fight back and win, the Florida Supreme Court disagreed with that arrogance and I actually won.

Nonetheless I appreciate your kind and cogent advice. I presume with your confident attitude you must have graduated at the bottom of your class from a third world law school. If I am wrong, I am certain you will correct me.

In the meantime, I will let my client make the decision. No lawyer I know worth his/her weight would ever guarantee a win (you just did) as I have learned in my 43 years of practicing law there are far too many variables.

Cordially,

JOEL HIRSCHHORN, Esq.

Mr. Hirschhorn,

Thank you for your email.

Please be advised that we are a US service provider and according to the federal law (Communications Decency Act or "CDA", 47 U.S.C. § 230) we are not liable for the content posted by third parties. We are an internet message board where users share their experiences with businesses.

Any views and opinions expressed at the website belong to and are a responsibility of the individual authors or commenters and do not represent the views of the 800notes staff. For more information please read <http://800notes.com/nb/Legal.aspx>.

We encourage businesses and individuals to respond to the posts. Feel free to use 'Reply' or 'Post Comment' functions of the website to explain why the posters are wrong, answer their questions and concerns, provide facts, and a way to reach you, or your client if they have more questions.

If, however, you conclude that in this case litigation is preferable, please recognize that you will have to sue the speakers who posted the messages.

To do this, you will need to identify the messages you find defaming and send us a subpoena requesting to release information about the posters. Once we are presented with a valid subpoena from a North Carolina court or governmental entity with proper jurisdiction, we then can release personally identifying information about the posters. (we store the poster IP information for 6 months.).

If you DO decide to proceed with a legal action against us, please note that we will fight back, will win, and you will be responsible for our legal fees. In fact we have recently proven our immunity in federal court: <http://800notes.com/news/houlihan-smith-sues-800notes-for-criticism-and-looses>

Please let me know if you have other questions.
